Junior Cotillion Waltzes into Fauquier County

After the 2014 runaway success of the Prince William Chapter of The National League of Junior Cotillions, director Kathleen Geneva expanded the program's offerings to Fauquier County—now in its second, confidence-building season. From September through March, students in grades 5-12 have the opportunity to meet one evening a month to develop the fine art of proper etiquette and social graces. The program focuses on building respectful relationships, and the learning process is accompanied by lots of laughter. An even number of boys and girls in each class is required, as they must partner for table etiquette and dance lessons. Of note, the course is so popular that there is often a wait list for boys. Students say they wish they could come to Junior Cotillion every week! For more information about offerings from the Prince William Chapter call (703) 901-1498.

KO Distilling: Generous Tastings Meet New Patio

Due to recently-relaxed ABC laws, KO Distilling in Manassas now offers generous drinks and tastings of up to four varieties of its Virginia-made white whiskey and gin.

Peter Mowery

The serving size for tastings is .5 oz and full drinks are 1.5 ounces. The Lemonade is made with freshly-squeezed lemons and just enough honey to sweeten KO's Battle Standard Navy Strength Gin. A splash of seltzer or tonic water adds a refreshing fizz. This signature summer drink is best enjoyed next to decorative whiskey barrels or on KO Distilling's new patio under bright blue umbrellas. Barrel Finished Gin is KO's newest product and is scheduled for release July 1. Enjoy a relaxing summer afternoon on the patio with a few friends. Great atmosphere, great spirits and great company—the best combination! For more information, call (571) 292-1115 or find them on Facebook
